Brief Details about the Programme:

World Habitat Day – 2023 on the theme “Resilient urban economies. Cities as drivers of growth and recovery” was organized at the Engineers Bhawan, Bareilly.

It was started with the Welcome Address by Er. P.K. Madhwar, Honorary secretary, IEI, Bareilly Local Centre.

Er. Suresh Sundrani, FIE, Past Chairman, IEI, Bareilly Local Centre introduced the theme as received from Head Quarter.

Speaking on the subject the Chairman Er. Raj Goel, suggested that Cities, resilient urban economies, catalyze growth and recovery through adaptive strategies. Robust infrastructure, innovation hubs, and sustainable policies enhance their ability to withstand shocks. Fostering diverse industries, empowering local businesses, and prioritizing inclusivity forge a path for urban centres to lead in economic resurgence. Embracing change, cities become dynamic engines propelling societal well-being and prosperity.

A galaxy of speakers was present to express their views during the Seminar organized on 2nd October, 2023 at ‘Engineer’ Bhawan’ as listed below:

- a. Er. D. N. Yadav, MIE, General Manager, Vadilal Ice Cream Ltd., Bareilly delivered his views on the topic Resilient urban economies are pivotal in propelling growth and recovery. Cities, as dynamic hubs, adapt to challenges, fostering innovation and diversity. Investing in robust infrastructure and local businesses ensures sustainable development. Recognizing cities as primary drivers underscores their role in shaping a resilient economic landscape, crucial for navigating uncertainties and spearheading collective prosperity.
- b. Er. Sudhir Gupta, IP Chairman, IEI, BLC delivered his views on the topic that the narrative of resilient urban economies positions cities as indispensable catalysts for growth and recovery. Embracing adaptability, innovation, and inclusive policies, cities stand as dynamic forces shaping a prosperous future. Their pivotal role in fostering local businesses and robust infrastructure underscores their capacity to withstand challenges. Recognizing cities as primary drivers not only fortifies economic landscapes but also establishes them as essential engines steering societies towards resilience, progress, and collective well-being.

- c. Er. H. C. Gupta, FIE, retd. VC Tata Chemicals' Babrala plant in UP, delivered his presentation on topic Emphasizing resilient urban economies as linchpins for future security, cities emerge as vital drivers of sustained growth and recovery. Through adaptive strategies, innovation, and inclusive policies, urban centers fortify themselves against uncertainties. Prioritizing local businesses and infrastructure ensures a secure foundation, positioning cities as dynamic engines poised to navigate.
