49th ENGINEERS' DAY

Theme:

Skill Development for Young Engineers to Reform the Core Sector: Vision 2025

September 15 is celebrated every year in the country as "Engineers' Day" to commemorate the birthday of the legendary engineer Sir Mokshagundam Visvesvaraya. Sir Visvesvaraya, an eminent Indian engineer and statesman was born in a remote village of Karnataka, the State that is incidentally now the Hi-tech State of the country. Due to his outstanding contribution to the society, Government of India conferred "Bharat Ratna" on this legend in the year 1955. He was also called the precursor of economic planning in India. His learned discourse on economic planning in India, Planned Economy for India and Reconstructing India, was the first available document on the planning effort of the country and it is still held as the parent source matter for economic planners.

Bharat Ratna Sir M Visvesvaraya

A theme of national importance is chosen every year by the National Council of the Institution and deliberated at its various State/Local Centres to educate the engineering fraternity in general and the society in particular. This year the National Council of the Institution has selected the theme as "Skill Development for Young Engineers to reform the Core Sector: Vision 2025".

There is immense pressure in restructuring global economy by means of global flow of goods, services and knowhow, when some industries decline as well as new avenue of opportunities is created. This force in turn creates the demand for re-skilling of those redundant workforce as well as skill-upgradation and training and development to promote new skills for those newly employed in new industries. Government across the states have taken some initiatives to address the major challenge of scaling up disparate skill development initiatives of different departments. Within a short span of time of less than ten years, a lot of skilled manpower is need to be developed, required by the market driven approach. The requirement of skilled manpower in all the major sectors of the country is not only a matter of national urgency, but also it is increasing in scale. However, Government of India has set a target to impart the necessary skills to 500 million people by the year 2022.

The five sectors, which are identified with the expectation to create majority of employment are infrastructure, auto, building and construction, textiles and transportation.

Now, like other employment sectors, shortage of required skills is one of the major constraints for the pass out engineering cadre for continuing growth of Indian economy. Different employer surveys addressed this knowledge gap and emphasize upon analysis and development of the classified skills for improved productivity.

In manufacturing, IT, infrastructure, power sector, engineers play a crucial role. In different real life situations, there arises unmet demand of skilled manpower. Different national and international bodies have carried out survey and analysis on this growing aspect of engineering fraternity and expressed concerns about the skills and knowledge at all level of workforce. As per the analysis of employer's feedback, specific skills can be categorised as core employability skills, communication skills and professional skills and thus, a policy recommendation may drafted as follows.

1. Addressing the prime skill factors through assessments, teaching, curriculum, real life case study
2. Emphasize soft skills development
3. Exercise skills in simulated environment
4. Customize courses to meet different customer demand.
